You're holding the M Book—a guide to the student experience at Maryland. From 1916 to 2001, first-year students turned to the M Book to figure out how to register for classes, learn the code of conduct and generally get a handle on the University of Maryland. It fizzled out after all this information moved online.

Now, the M Book is back—with fewer rules and a modern focus. In these pages, you'll instead find Maryland's past, present and future, and your future, too. Get the backstory on university traditions. Memorize the fight song's lyrics. Follow real-life advice from recent grads. (Important: Never pass up a free T-shirt.) Take pride in the accomplishments of Terp alums. Become a part of Maryland's legacy of fearlessness.

MUST-SEE UMD

Maryland's campus is more than just a collection of buildings—it's your new home. So take the first steps to making it feel that way. Walk around and get familiar with UMD's must-know places.

POINT OF FAILURE

Watch out! Located in the pavement between Shoemaker and LeFrak Halls, the lines shooting out from this circle in the pavement point to all of the buildings that existed here at the time of the 1912 fire, two of which were destroyed. According to legend, a student who steps on the point where the lines intersect won't graduate in four years.

KISSING TUNNEL

Located under Regents Drive, this tunnel used to attract Terp couples looking for a private smooching spot.

MEMORIAL CHAPEL AND GARDEN OF REFLECTION

Need a quiet moment? Head inside the non-denominational chapel or take a walk through the garden labyrinth. Jot a few thoughts in one of the journals stored under the benches there.

TESTUDO STATUES

The best-known bronze sculpture is in front of McKeldin Library, but you can rub his nose for good luck at other locations in the Stamp Student Union and outside the Xfinity Center, Maryland Stadium, the Gossett Team House, Van Munching Hall and Riggs Alumni Center.

MCKELDIN MALL/ODK FOUNTAIN

From a hammock or the lawn, take in the hustle and bustle on the mall, stretching across 16.28 acres and often cited as the biggest of its kind on a university campus. The fountain in the middle celebrates members of the Omicron Delta Kappa honor society.

NYUMBURU CULTURAL CENTER

The Nyumburu Cultural Center is the hub of African-American culture on campus, hosting musical performances, art exhibits, lectures and more.

STAMP STUDENT UNION

Grab lunch (or a scoop of ice cream from the famed Maryland Dairy), study, buy Terp gear or see a movie at the Adele H. Stamp Student Union, a hub for students and visitors alike.

JIM HENSON STATUE

Cozy up with the original Muppeteer, Jim Henson '60, and Kermit the Frog—which Henson created while a UMD student—outside the Stamp Student Union.

COLE FIELD HOUSE

This campus landmark—now reinvented as the home of Maryland Football and a hub for entrepreneurship, as well as brain and behavior studies—was once home court for Terps basketball.

HORNBAKE PLAZA/FREDERICK DOUGLASS STATUE

Feel inspired by the legacy of native Marylander Frederick Douglass, the famous abolitionist and orator, at the statue, surrounded by some of his most inspirational quotes.

SAMUEL RIGGS IV ALUMNI CENTER AND MOXLEY GARDENS

Get acquainted with the Alumni Association at this center for all things post-graduate.

WIND TUNNEL

Since 1949, researchers have braved the Glenn L. Martin Wind Tunnel to learn more about aerodynamics. With wind speeds up to 230 miles per hour, the wind tunnel has been instrumental in experiments involving submarines, battleships, missiles, airplanes and more.

CAMPUS FARM

Connect with UMD's roots as the Maryland Agricultural College at our working farm and unconventional classroom, where horses, sheep and dairy cows live just steps away from residence halls and academic buildings.

TRADITIONS

Traditions link Maryland students from generation to generation—sort of a conga line of Terps. Some of these uniquely UMD experiences live on today, while others have taken their place in university history. Either way, they're what make our university so special.

RUBBING TESTUDO'S NOSE AND LEAVING HIM OFFERINGS It's the quintessential Maryland tradition. Sit outside McKeldin Library for just a minute or two, and you'll see at least a few passersby reach out and rub the nose of the most popular bronze Testudo statue (we have seven!). It's said to bring good luck—as is leaving Testudo offerings during finals. Food, drinks and coins are typical gifts, but furniture, a potted plant and even a robot have been left at Testudo's feet.

THE M The M Circle, a traffic circle featuring a giant floral "M," was a campus landmark since 1976. In 2020, to make way for the light-rail Purple Line, the M scooted just across the street from the original site on Campus Drive. Now students have a new scenic backdrop for selfies and commencement pictures.

SUNBATHING AT THE STADIUM The scorching bleachers at what is now Maryland Stadium were a literal hotspot for socializing and sunbathing on hot days in the 1970s and '80s.

CLASS WARS/KING OF THE MOUNTAIN Beginning in the days when the University of Maryland was known as the Maryland Agricultural College, first-year students and sophomores took each other on in so-called class wars, attempting feats of physical strength like tug-of-war and “King of the Mountain,” in which they climbed a 120-foot water tower on campus.

BEANIES From the 1910s through the 1960s, first-year students were required to wear beanies—"rat caps" for men and "rabbit caps" for women—at all times on campus. They looked as fashionable as they sound.

MAY DAY The annual celebration, which spanned 1923–61, included choosing a May queen from the senior class to oversee a day of dancing around the maypole, songs and a pageant or play.

MARIE MOUNT HALL

HOME ECONOMICS

TRADITIONS

CAMPUS GHOSTS

CAMPUS GHOSTS Legend has it that Marie Mount Hall, the Rossborough Inn and Morrill Hall, among other buildings, are all home to ghosts.

FLAG UNFURLING During every home football and men's basketball game, a giant Maryland state flag is unfurled over a section of fans.

READING THE DIAMONDBACK AT BASKETBALL GAMES Students have long read (or at least pretended to read) The Diamondback at basketball games when visiting teams are announced. Though the student newspaper is now all-digital, spirit papers are still available for games.

FLASH MOB At one home basketball game every year, students break into a choreographed flash mob, turning the student section into a sea of unified bopping and swaying—and an instant smash on YouTube.

TURTLE BOUNCE During every football game, the UMD drum line plays a signature beat that signals it's time for the crowd to stand, cheer and dance.

CANNON Every time Maryland scores at a home game, a cannon fires and the band plays the school's fight songs.

EVENTS

Pick your party—or parties. The University of Maryland brings Terps together every year at uniquely fun gatherings. We practically guarantee lifelong memories.

ART ATTACK

At the end of every school year, SEE presents Art Attack, a day-long event where students can bask in the spring weather, and enjoy everything from a petting zoo and henna tattoos to a live concert to close out the night.

BIG SHOW AT FALL WELCOME At the kickoff to Maryland's athletic season, first-year students learn the lyrics to the Maryland Victory Song and alma mater; the Mighty Sound of Maryland marching band, cheerleaders and dance team perform; and everybody gets a huge blast of school spirit.

GRAD BASH AND RING CEREMONY Before you graduate, celebrate with music, games and more at the Alumni Association's Grad Bash. At the accompanying Ring Ceremony, pick up your class ring and toast your fellow grads.

HOMECOMING A comedy show, live music, tailgates and, of course, football are all part of a jam-packed week of fun every fall.

MARYLAND DAY The last Saturday of every April becomes a celebration of all things UMD. More than 80,000 people across the DMV come to this massive open house of family-friendly activities, performances and exhibitions.

WALDO STOPPED

TAKE IN THE HUBBUB

DAY—CAN YOU FIND
HIM AND TESTUDO IN THE CROWD?

MIDNIGHT MILE Basketball season at Maryland gets started with the Midnight Mile, a tradition started in 1971 by legendary coach Lefty Driesell and revived in 2018. At 11:30 p.m., students join the men's basketball team to take a run around Kehoe Track. Dancing—and pizza-eating—usually ensue.

QUELCOME Each fall, the LGBT Equity Center hosts a welcome event for all LGBTQ and allied students, faculty, staff and alumni, featuring music, food and dancing.

STAMP ALL-NITER Think all-nighters are just for that paper you put off writing? Every year, the Stamp Student Union hosts an all-night party that has included karaoke, movie marathons, step shows, concerts and more.

TERP THON The biggest student group on campus has raised more than $6 million in 13 years for Children's National Hospital, culminating each year in a wild 12-hour dance marathon.

VICTORY SONG

"Maryland,
we're all behind you,
Raise high the black and gold.

So keep on fighting, don't give in!

BACK IN THE DAY AND TODAY

A dive into old M Books reveals rules and tips for life on campus that are so wildly outdated that you'll be forgiven for suspecting we made these up. We didn't. Along with those snippets, you'll get glimpses of today's University of Maryland experience in all its vibrant, Testudo-loving glory. So take a glance at some of what the next four years have in store for you.

FROM THE 1978
M BOOK

"If you must drive, arrive at your assigned lot early. Dawn is a little extreme; five minutes before your noon class is sheer folly. Be advised that the first two weeks of classes is the worst time for traffic because everyone is here all the time."

SAMUEL RIGGS IV ALUMNI CENTER The Riggs Center is the home for alumni on campus, as well as a beautiful venue for hosting weddings, parties, conferences and more. Plus, student groups always receive discounted rates.

FROM THE 1953 M BOOK

"To be safe and sure of the best wardrobe, buy carefully and tastefully. Avoid that pale champagne cashmere with rhinestone and pearl trimming and look for easy-to-care-for pullovers to match your skirts. If you aren't sure of the best in college fashions, avoid buying all of your clothes until after you have returned to school for a week or two, and check on what the upper class, experienced gal goes for."

MARK L. BUTLER TUNNEL

WM FOOTBALL

054

FROM THE 1946
M BOOK

"There will be no smoking at dances, in class room or any other place on campus except in the following:

1. Rooms designated for smoking in the dormitories.
2. Rest rooms in the class buildings.
3. Drug stores."

FROM
THE 1930 M
BOOK

"Girls may have men callers at the dormitory after dinner until 7:30 on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday nights, on Saturday and Sunday afternoons and on Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings until 10:30 P.M."

FROM THE 1924
M BOOK

"Freshmen must tip their caps and speak to all upperclassmen, addressing them with 'sir' and 'pardon.'"

FROM
BOOK

"If you feel the need for nourishment, the lunch room is open from 8 to 4 o'clock. This is a real good place to socialize and show off your dancing talent. The tables can be pushed back at 4 p.m. The jukebox will most likely be busy."

FROM THE 1972 M BOOK

"Eating in a University dining hall is probably the easiest way to plan for meals if you're living on campus. And, if you don't have time to eat, the dining hall will fix you a packed lunch. But don't expect a home cooked meal. Since the food is prepared in huge quantities, quality is lacking. Don't be surprised if you gain weight. The food is starchy, and your meal ticket allows you to eat as much as you want. The food is monotonous, but occasionally there are exceptionally good meals, such as nationality and holiday dinners."

ALUMNI NETWORKS After graduation, your Alumni Association is here to help you stay connected with Maryland and fellow Terps through over 49 regional, affinity and industry-based networks across the country.
